Howe Files Suit For EWSC Students

by Gretchen Glass
Staff Writer

The State College Council (SCC), a new organization headed by student body presidents from colleges in Washington, met Saturday at EWSC.

Jerry Howe, AS president, attended the meeting and was asked to explain the connection between EWSC's Isle Hall and his suit against Atty. Gen. Slade Gorton on the right of students to receive counsel.

"Suit has been filed in State Superior Court against Gorton by students requesting a ruling on their right to counsel," said Howe.

Isle Hall, once the student union building, is now being used for the bookstore and classes. The building is still being paid for by student funds, which by law, is illegal.

When Howe asked Gorton to provide legal counsel, Gorton refused. Howe then proceeded to file suit against Gorton.

Darrell E. Phillipson, lawyer for Howe and backed by the SCC, interpreted a law stating that counsel would be provided only for state agencies. Gorton feels that Howe is a member of a sub-agency, but Phillipson argues that "any agency is an agency and should be eligible for counsel."

"Isle Hall is why we need counsel here, but there are similar problems at other colleges," said Howe.

Stuart McMullen, SCC vice-chairperson, in a recent letter, said that SCC is "the voice" for the students. He explained that its purpose is to provide assistance for the needs of students throughout Washington.

Among the list of topics at the SCC meeting was the raise in college tuition. It was suggested that a group of 15 students tour the state, talking to key figures about the problems facing students.

A list of the basic costs for students is being compiled to send around the state to inform people of the hassles facing students.

It was noted that a majority of students are receiving aid of some kind, but if costs were lowered or stabilized, the need for more grants, loans and financial aid would be cut.

The SCC is designed to cope with matters like this and urges people to supply them with the necessary funds to operate effectively for the good of the students.

Eastern Needs A Queen

Filing for the Homecoming Queen Election closes at 5 p.m. tomorrow. Applicants may register in the A.S. Offices, located on the 3rd floor of the PUB.

Candidates may file as independents or as representatives of dorms, clubs or organizations at EWSC. This quarter, candidates are limited to female students.

The Homecoming Queen Election takes place on Thursday, Oct. 14. The polls will be located on Mainstreet of the PUB between 8 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Slade Gorton Rules On Roommate Discrimination

by Edye Jenkins
Associate Editor

In a formal legal opinion September 29, Atty. Gen. Slade Gorton ruled that it is not contrary to state law for a person to discriminate on the basis of sex, age, or religion in selecting a roommate.

Gorton also held that no law is violated if a person specifies in an advertisement for a roommate of a particular sex, age, religion or for a newspaper to publish an advertisement which includes such a specification.

In the opinion requested by State Senator Alan Bluechel, Gorton said that under a broad interpretation of a law prohibiting discrimination in real estate transactions, sex or religion factors might be precluded in cotenancy situations.

Gorton said he did support a previous ruling of the State Human Rights Commission in rejecting such a broad view because it might subject the law to a constitutional challenge as infringement on the right of privacy.

It is a traditional rule of legal interpretation to avoid a holding which would subject a law to a constitutional challenge if there is an equally valid opinion which avoids such a "legal cloud."

In the 12-page analysis, Gorton also held that to prevent a newspaper from publishing sex or religious preferences might violate the constitution's freedom of the press provision.

Discrimination based on age is precluded only under the employment laws and not by the statute relating to cotenancy real estate transactions.

Further information on the ruling is available upon request at the EASTERNER Office.

A.S. Looking Into It

Football Doomed At Eastern?

by Mark James
Staff Writer

Action taken by the Associated Students' Legislature last Monday will enable students to express their opinions on the financing of Eastern's football program.

Upon the legislators' consent, a memorandum questioning the feasibility of a student-funded football program will be distributed among Eastern's student body.

Describing it as being "very inefficient," Zack Lueck said the football program should be "drastically revised," if not excluded altogether.

Lyle Grambo reserved the possibility of continuing the program, providing reductions be made. Grambo stated that $8,000 could be saved if pre-season workouts began two weeks later than the normal. However, this would demand the exclusion of the first two games and would not be accord with the Evergreen Conference Policy.

A total of $21,116 in student activity fees is currently being appropriated for the football program. The combined programs of track and field, gymnastics, swimming, tennis, golf and wrestling total $18,901. Basketball and baseball receive $8,600 and $4,095, respectively.

In other action, the Legislature referred a campaign reform bill sponsored by Bruce Ellis back to committee.

The bill would provide a 50 per cent reimbursement of all campaign expenditure, with the exception of signs, posters, and Easterner adds up to $50.

A student discount service was looked into by the legislature. The service would be offered by any business paying a $275 fee every two years. Speaker Jon Fancher was advised to pursue the topic further and make a report at a later date.

The Legislature appointed Dan Dagasaan, Lisa Solomon and Bruce Ayers to the Student Activities Review Board.

The nominations of Mary Feaster and Chandru Sajanani were postponed one week because of absence.

Lou Orchard was granted a request to serve in Undergraduate Affairs.

At its next meeting, the Legislature will hear budget demands from the Black Student Union and the Women's Commission. A final budget could be drawn up the following week.

IT'S GREAT TO SCORE A TOUCHDOWN and Eastern's Jim Fisk had two six pointers against Central Washington State College during last Saturday's game in Cheney. The Eagles won 30-17, but the future of the football program here may be in trouble. (Photo by Mike Bade)

Learning Center Offers Experience

by Linda Townsend
Copy Editor

Would you like to get some work experience, test your knowledge outside the classroom, discover new career plans, learn from professionals, and perhaps earn some money?

The Center for Experiential Learning (CEL), formerly the University Year for Action, may have your answer.

Originally created to alleviate poverty, the program has now become a permanent part of EWSC. About 35 per cent of the people in the CEL came to Eastern because of the program, according to Glenn Elkins, director. CEL now serves as a campus-wide clearing house for non-traditional learning and internships.

"Our purpose is to test ideas about career choices," said Elkins.

Elkins explained that there are two ways in which the center places students. Either an employer may call in with a job that provides learning opportunities or the CEL contacts potential employers.

For an employer to list a job with the center, the position must provide a learning experience. The CEL is not an employment agency, according to Elkins.

At the present time, the CEL is working mainly with juniors and seniors in the educational and social-behavioral fields. However, they are attempting to broaden the field to include all majors.

Alkins said that students studying education or the social sciences attend class one day per week and work the rest of the time.

"This is the first year we have arranged a formal contract with District 81 to hire 16 EWSC students, four days a week for $200 a month," said Elkins.

He said that the CEL has other students in education, but these students are under specific contract.

"The University Year of Action dealt mainly with upper level students," said Elkins, "but we are beginning to think of freshmen and sophomores."

"We might be able to find some internships for liberal art's people. They're really in trouble," said Elkins.

At the end of the internship, the CEL conducts a follow-up on the student and employing agency.

Students interested in the program should contact Elkins at the CEL, in Room 211, Hargreaves Hall.

Congratulations, you're in medical school.

Now, you have to pay for it.

That can be a very serious problem today, especially with tuition costs climbing relentlessly. Yes, you can borrow, but by the time you enter practice those debts can be substantial.

There is an alternative—an Armed Forces Health Professions (AFHP) scholarship. Whether you're studying to be a physician or a dentist, whether your goal is to become an osteopath or an optometrist, it can pay your entire tuition and fees all through medical school. It will also provide you with a substantial monthly allowance. In other words, if you qualify, one of those scholarships can give you financial independence now, when you need it most.

When you're ready to go into practice, an AFHP scholarship will also have paved the way for you to start your career under highly favorable circumstances. You'll be a commissioned officer in the military branch of your selection. Your practice will be waiting for you. You'll step into it and know that the challenges you'll meet will be solely medical ones and professionally stimulating.

There will also be opportunity for further study. The Armed Forces have created extensive and outstanding clinical, teaching and research programs. Once you decide on a specialty, you may find yourself taking the graduate medical studies of your choice at one of their facilities.

The details are many. But if you'll send in the coupon, we'll mail you literature which will give you a good overview of the scope of our operations. Why not write? We think you'll be interested in the possibilities.

POTPOURRI

New Sperm?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A new method of human artificial insemination has been developed, according to the Population Reference Bureau.

The new method, developed by Dr. Ronald J. Ericsson of Gametrics Ltd., Sausalito, Calif., insures a 90 per cent chance of a male child being born.

Ericsson has developed a kit, which he expects to have on the market in 18 months, for sale to any doctor wanting to use the method.

Pay Phones

SEATTLE—Jay Wagner is calling for a boycott of pay telephones to get the price of a call lowered from 15 cents to five cents. He is placing stickers on phone booths asking the public to observe a one hour, statewide boycott between 2 p.m. and 3 p.m. on Oct. 14.

Johnny Carson

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Johnny Carson, who begins his 15th year with the "Tonight Show" this week, has had more television exposure than any other performer.

Since October 1962, Carson has hosted 4,000 90-minute shows.

In addition to all this TV time, Carson hosted the game show, "Who Do You Trust?" for five years.

Cuckoo Time

SEATTLE—A 47-year-old Seattle man, who claims he suffered destruction of mental processes when a state hospital performed an unauthorized frontal lobotomy on him, has sued the state for $28 million.

The suit, filed in King County Superior Court on behalf of Phil Louis Deiro, states that Deiro was detained against his will for 26 years at Northern State Hospital, which has since been closed.

Deiro was released in February, 1972, but since has experienced epileptic seizures, loss of control over discharge of urine, loss of abstract learning ability, and general apathy, says his attorney Robert Czeisler.

Lobotomies were outlawed in 1975 when the state's new mental commitment law went into effect.

Nixon Letters

WASHINGTON—The "Richard Nixon love letters" are forgeries, according to the chief postal inspector.

"A handwriting analysis has determined that the letters were not written by Mr. Nixon or any other individuals who were known to possess copies of them," Chief Inspector C. Neil Benson said in a letter to Nixon's lawyer.

Last June, New York literary agent Scott Meredith said he had an unauthenticated set of letters by Nixon to an unnamed woman during the last days of his presidency.

Benson said the letters apparently originated in Washington, and passed through the hands of individuals in Detroit and Los Angeles before coming to Meredith's attention.

"The Inspection Service was able to trace the letters to a Washington salesman, now deceased, who apparently knew the letters were a hoax, but did not himself write them," Benson wrote in the letter.

The investigation has been closed with a determination that no prosecution is warranted.

Ali Gone?

ASSOCIATED PRESS—Muhammed Ali announced his retirement from boxing last week following his controversial, albeit unanimous decision over challenger Ken Norton last Tuesday night.

Sources close to the 34-year-old world heavyweight boxing champion said that, although Ali has quit before, his announcement is being taken at face value this time.

Boxing officials were skeptical of the announcement, but most agreed that the winner of a Norton-Foreman match would be the logical successor to the title.

The New Image

by Nick Sweers
Managing Editor

Now that we have everything under control, including fragments of last year's business, the Easterner and its inept staff are ready for the new image and season.

This week's issue will feature an honest, down-to-earth interview with a Spokane woman whose occupation is not apropos for the directors of "What's My Line?"

There is also a full-page advertisement by the "marijuana guys" that we decided to devote free copy space to. The "Letters to the Editor" is getting bizarre. A "Mad Dog" is conducting the photographic opinion survey while "Potpourri" editors Edye Jenkins and Linda Townsend have decided to include everything in this column from humorous airplane crashes to Congress attempting to regulate sports.

Unfortunately, that's not everything. Beginning October 14, "Rip Off Comix" will adorn two pages of the Easterner every week. Yes, you guessed it, "The Fabulous Fury Freak Brothers," "Fat Freddy's Cat," "E.Z. Wolfe" and that sterile hog of steel, "Wonder Wart Hog." There will be other surprises also.

The Interview

This week's interview with a 19-year-old prostitute is a true and revealing expose of the oldest profession in the world. Staff writer Dave Hoisington, with the help of Mike Grabicki, was able to comfortably correspond with this lady and obtain a true account of her lifestyle, habits and beliefs. Very little has been deleted from the original manuscript. Just a few choice words.

Marijuana Ads

Yes, marijuana smokers are no longer arrested in eight states, including Oregon and California. Rather, they receive civil fines. The National Organization for the Reform of Marijuana Laws (NORML) has asked for our cooperation in decriminalizing cannabis in Washington. Other groups and organizations that do not enjoy free advertising space will also receive cooperation from the Easterner if copy space allows.

An Old Cliche

In public relations, it's sometimes important to say, "We're changing our style, but not our name." Hell, Richard Nixon got away with it! Wait till the editorial on uncomfortable sexual positions by "Holy Hubert."

Jokes of the Week: "How do you keep the stork from coming?" Shoot it in the air! Also, farmers were fearful of the former Secretary of Agriculture's recent comments because they knew they would lose their Butz!

Rape And Self Defense

by Edye Jenkins
Associate Editor

Another rape was committed in Spokane during the past week, and the told and untold counts continue.

Escort services, community programs, and television and radio public service announcements are but a few of the developments which have been formed to help women through the current crisis.

But, what will happen when the rapist(s) is caught, or ceases to inflict his personal pain on others for a short time, and all seems well? Will these services continue to exist, or will women once again be faced with the possible responsibility for their own safety?

Women have fought for equality, but when the subject of self-defense arises, many still maintain the belief that their boyfriends, husbands, or some good-hearted man will come to their rescue. Those that attempt to believe this are blind.

The traditional idea that women are the "weaker sex" is far from accurate. Any woman physically capable of walking down the street unaided can learn to defend herself.

But, why are the majority of women in this country still unable to protect themselves?

The answer is complicated both by American society and a woman's individual concept of herself. Some of the arguments range from, "it's so unfeminine," to, "I could never learn to hurt another person," or, "it will never happen to me anyway." Do any of these sound familiar?

On the EWSC campus, there are three Martial Arts schools where a woman could learn basic self-defense. The time it would take to learn to defend oneself is small compared to an entire lifetime.

Letters To The Editor

Cat Man

Dear Editor:

I'm just your run-of-the-mill, average freshman here at Eastern. I live in Morrison, I have a roommate, I go to class, I bitch about the food, and I do most of the other things that average, run-of-the-mill freshmen do.

But there's one thing that really pisses me off. My first class is at 10 a.m., so I usually go to breakfast at about 9 a.m. or so. Well anyway, almost every morning, there is a cat waiting beside the sidewalk right on the other side of Streeter Hall.

You can tell he's lonely, he meows pitifully and looks rather forlorn. So I make it a point to pet him every morning. He's a pretty nice cat really. Good personality traits. Gentle, quite good looking, and he finds it within himself to hold back his anger when people don't pet him.

Now this really makes me mad. Are people so impatient to get to English 101 or Intro to Earth Science that they can't take time out to help a lonely friend? Are they too cool to notice him sitting there patiently?

I don't understand these people. After all, he's not that different from most of the freshmen. Lonely, looking for a friend. Well, I guess I'm done ranting and raving for today. Have a nice day.

L. Edward

Dear Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to correct some mis-understandings evident in last week's Easterner article regarding my position with the Black Education Program.

I am not replacing Mr. Williams as the director of the Black Education Program, but I am acting as an interim director until such a time when a new director is chosen.

A faculty search committee has been formed and is in the process of advertising for applicants.

Other than this slight discrepancy the article was very representative of the Black Education Program ideals and goals for this year. It is the feeling of the staff of the Black Education Program that this improvement in responsible reporting can only make the Easterner a better newspaper.

We look forward to cooperating with the Easterner staff this year to give our College community these kinds of factual and informative articles.

Sincerely,
Linda K. Edward
Acting Director,
Black Education Program

It Stinks!

Dear Editor:

In the Easterner dated Sept. 30, 1976 concerning the section on Rap Around. After last Thursday's televised debates between Jimmy Carter and Gerald Ford, who do you favor for the Presidency at this point?

I would like to take this opportunity to say that your random sampling stinks.

If I am to believe this garbage, I would say three out of seven are out and out for Carter. Two of the seven would be in favor of Carter, one would not change her mind (whether it is for Carter or Ford is not known) and one is only glad that "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman" wasn't pre-empted and could care less about the election.

Not one is for Ford.

A selection of two for Carter, two for Ford and two for no choice or minds unchanged would be more realistic.

So my conclusion is Carter shall win on this campus hands down.

Tsk, Tsk, Tsk. Your bias is showing.

Bruce McBurney

Editor's Note: Don't feel too discouraged. Somebody could have supported Lester Maddox, Eugene McCarthy or the Commandant of the U.S. Marine Corps. ## Jeff Speaks

Dear Editor:

The continuing dilemma of the Black Education

Program continues at EWSC as a result of the appointment of Linda Edward as acting director of the program. (Sept. 30, 1976).

First of all, how the administration expects a graduate in applied psychology to follow in the distinguished footsteps of Clarence Williams is beyond belief. I see no connection between an administrative post such as BEP director and the study of applied psychology; furthermore her postgraduate decision to study business administration after a BA in applied psychology doesn't exactly say much about her "direction"—a basic concept of applied psychology.

We are led to understand by the article that she will continue working on her Masters. Are we to believe that she will attempt to hold down a demanding administrative post and at the same time fulfill her graduate requirements?

Are the Black students at EWSC ready to accept a part-time director?

As the campus newspaper, I would expect you to start asking some questions at this point. In view of the considerable salary, is this particular person qualified for the job? Can we really believe a recent college graduate with no administrative experience is the best the EWSC administration could do for this temporary, but sensitive position? Does the acting director herself actually fulfill the civil service requirements listed for the job? It's my contention that appointments such as these have lengthy requirements—not the least being a masters in some type of administration in addition to some type of qualifying experience.

But perhaps there are some predictable scenarios that can be applied in this case: Maybe the administration, with all the dissension and frustration concerning the BEP felt the appointment of Edward was the way to end the program once and for all; or maybe acting president Phillip Marshal assumes the appointment of Edward would ice his own as president, since Edward is perhaps favorable to some particular faction.

Jeff Lorello

Editor's Note:

(Lorello is a former editor of The Easterner and is currently the managing editor of The Chewelah Independent. During the Spring of 1975 he came under fire for writing an outspoken article on the encounter class the EWSC Applied Psychology Department was requiring for graduation.

Cheers!

Dear Editor:

A very, very special thank you to the entire student body for their most generous support of our dance Friday night. As our advertising stated, all proceeds go to our travel fund (vehicular expense only) in order that we can be in attendance at the away games. The "Sleeper" provided the good music and MS III's and IV's from our own ROTC Department assisted in crowd control. To them we certainly are indebted also.

We had a good turnout for Saturday's game. It is our hope that those of you who did attend will, along with your friends and fellow students, continue to support Eagle football.

AN INTERVIEW WITH A SWEET PAINTED LADY

by David Hoisington and Mike Grabicki

In our social system today we have an interesting way of shading and coloring subjects which may or may not be threats to that same social system, and when possible we keep these situations behind closed doors. Prostitution is one such subject area and is therefore the basis for the following interview with a young woman who is a lady of the evening.

Q: How old are you?
A: 19.
Q: How long have you been a prostitute?
A: About five years.

Q: How did you first get started?
A: Me and my girlfriend Chris, we started going around the east side and we started hearing this stuff about prostituion, so Chris and I talked about it for a long time, "Well, do we want to do this?", and I was the one who really pushed it, because I was so curious. Well, I was working at a carpet store then, and one day after work Chris and I decided we were going to do this. So we went downtown to the bus depot because we were too young to go to Main (Street). So we meet this guy, and neither one of us knew what we were doing. It was crazy, we didn't know a thing.

Q: Were you doing this as a joke?
A: We were doing this to see if we could do it, we were curious. We wanted to know what was going on. So, we went down and met this guy, and he wanted to date me, but I was hoping she would be first instead.

Well, he thought I was real dumb and naive, and I was. So, he offers me $30, which is pretty good for down there. He was staying in this hotel down there, and I told him I wanted the money first because it was my first time and I didn't trust him anyway. So he gave it to me! And I gave it to Chris, and he told me to be in his room in five minutes.

Well, five minutes rolled around. I thought—God, I can't go up there and do this, I'll take his money back to him. But then my girlfriend said, 'Go on, go up there, you've got to do it', and I said no, I'm not going up there, and I am not going to take his $30 back. So we left.

We thought we had really made it big. Thirty dollars and we didn't do anything! We went home and bragged about it to John, a friend of ours, but I was hoping George, my boyfriend, wouldn't find out what we were doing. But, John told George and the next day after work I went back down to the bus depot and George was waiting for me.

He freaked, he kicked my ass, he just about killed me and he told me never to go back down there. But, because he hit me, I went back down there again. Instead of going back to the bus depot, I went down to Main. Well, I caught two or three tricks and turned them. At first I was real dumb. Do I leave my shirt on for $25 or do I take it off? So I went ahead and kept working. About a week after that George caught me again, and he just massacred me this time, and locked me in the bedroom. It pissed me off really bad, so I left and moved all my stuff to this motel and started working really regularly.

Well he (George) finally caught up with me and said if this was what I was going to do, then I would do it for the rest of my life and for him. That's how it all started. It didn't bother me, because I was going to do it anyway and I didn't want him to hit me anymore. That's the reason I left home, because my mother used to hit me too often.

Q: Do you think of this as a regular job?
A: Yes, I do.
Q: What are your johns (customers) like?
A: Not to be shitty, but he could be your brother or even my brother. They're normal people. I have some real nice looking men, nice people, they want a prostitute because they just don't want to get involved. I get all kinds of people from businessmen to students.

Q: How old is your oldest john?
A: Oh, I've got a little regular and he is 88 years old. He pays me $30 for ten minutes to play with my titties.
Q: How old is the youngest?
A: I have a guy who I think is a sophomore in high school.
Q: What is your price scale?
A: Thirty dollars is a straight, $40 for a half and half, which is a little bit of (oral copulation) and then a straight. A complete (oral copulation) is $30. I won't do any 'greek' or booty.
Q: What is a booty?
A: It's the same as 'greek,' in the ass.

Q: How do you get rid of a guy who hassles you for too low of a price?
A: If there is a policewoman working undercover, we send him to her. We just tell him that there is a broad working around the corner for five bucks, and if he is dumb enough to believe that, then we wish him luck.
Q: How do you screen someone new who approaches you?
A: I check all I.D. and I'll want to know why I haven't seen him before. I won't quote any prices. A man has to tell me how much he wants to spend and then we go from there.
Q: How long is a typical day, and how much money do you bring in on the average?
A: I make about $170 to $200 a day, usually from 4 p.m. to 4 a.m., Monday through Saturday.

Q: Do you have many who are into sado-masochism?
A: Yea, they want me to tie them up, but they can't hit me. I have one guy who is a lawyer here, who likes to get tied up and beaten. I even have a guy who has me put on black fish-net stockings, black boots with spiked heels, a black swim suit with a silver belt and a black hat with feathers in it, and then beat him with a bull whip.
Q: Does it bother you?
A: No, but if he told me it hurt him, I would quit.
Q: Do you enjoy sex with your tricks?
A: No, I don't like (getting it on—sex).
Q: Not even with your old man?
A: Oh no, that's different, you put into that. That wears you out. If I had sex with everyone like I do with my old man, I would be a tired bitch by now.

Q: Do you put on like you're enjoying sex with your johns?
A: You have to put on a little bit, but you don't lay there and holler. A lot of guys don't want to get that personal. They just want to get their rocks off and get on.
Q: How do you discourage young girls from working on Main?
A: We kick their ass. There's no way they're coming down to our block and making it. They had better high-tail it up to the bus depot.

Q: How does George (her pimp) treat you?
A: He's fair, but something you have to realize is that our relationship is like that of a husband and wife. We have a joint back account, and I can get money whenever I need it. I love him, he's not the best, but I don't want anybody who is too good to me. I hate a man who pampers me. I can get them any time of the day.

Q: Do other girls work for him?
A: Yes, three others.
Q: Are there any problems in getting away from prostitution or the pimp?
A: Not unless he is in love or you take something that does not belong to you.

Q: Do you get much business from conventions in town?
A: Yea, but businessmen are so cheap and ignorant. They're the worst dates to get. They think they should get everything for ten bucks.

Q: Have you tried hard drugs?
A: I never have tried heroin. Some of the girls on the street have, but very few. That's a dog's world, and I'm not a dog. We smoke and snort once in a while, but nothing heavy.

Q: How do you prevent pregnancy and V.D.?
A: We use rubbers, foams, cups, and we get check-ups once a week. I've worked five years and never had any disease. I don't use birth-control pills because they make me sick.
Q: Do you carry a knife or a gun?
A: Yea, I carry a blade.
Q: Have you ever had to use it?
A: Not in Spokane, I did once in California.

Q: What was the situation?
A: This guy wanted to date me and two other girls. He paid us pretty good money, so we all went. Well, we get in the room and he starts talking about his wife and how she left him and turned into a prostitute, and now he hated all prostitutes. So he pulled out his gun and told us to lay down on the floor. He said 'Lay down on the floor, I'm going to shoot you, I'm going to shoot you in the head.'
Well, we were all wearing boots and we all had our knives in our boots and one of my girlfriends made a sudden move and he started moving towards her. So, I pulled out my knife and stabbed him and we all just kind of jumped on him.
Well, we went to prison for that for two months. This man was going to shoot us, they found the gun. Yet, we went to prison.

Q: Why didn't they prosecute him?
A: Because he was hurt and we weren't. If they had found us dead they might have, but we're 'dirty prostitutes' and we don't get any type of consideration when it comes to the law.
Police will not give us the protection they give to other people. They don't want to because they don't care about us. Nobody wants to help a prostitute when she's in trouble. But prostitutes have been known to help others who are in trouble.
Up in Alaska, when the Eskimos go drink in the bars, they'll forget about their kids and leave them outside in forty below weather. I've seen prostitutes take them home and raise them, when nobody else wanted them. I once took care of an Eskimo kid for two weeks until I found his mother.

Q: Do you think you could find a straight job?
A: I wouldn't. I couldn't. There's just no way.

Q: What does the future hold for you?
A: I'm quitting in another five years and opening a boutique or something, or maybe sit back and let him (George) pimp those other girls.

Q: What do you think of the vice?
A: The vice are good, they are good police. They're nice but, they will bust you. They are friends, but they have to do their jobs. If you do something illegal, they'll bust you for it. They're fair and they don't hassle me because they know I don't rip people off. They know I don't hurt anybody. I just do my job and get on.
But you know what they do sometimes in California? They take a paddy wagon and buy a bottle and they put all the girls in the paddy wagon and get them so drunk they don't want to work. And, they make them drink, whether they are of legal age or not. You have no alternative. If you don't want to drink, they'll take you to jail. You might as well get drunk and say 'the hell with it.'

Q: What has been your experience with the D.A.'s office?
A: They're bums, they're just not fair. They think of us as shit and nothing more. Same with the judges. They're prejudice. They hate us and it's not fair.
I'm not saying that a fair judge is one who lets me off, but there has been a lot of cases where the girl should not have been busted. If they bust a massage parlor, they give the guy a $45 ticket. But, we get a $1,000 fine plus legal fees. It's one-sided.
The Easterner

They say they treat the guys like they treat us, but that's a lie. Then the prosecutor said the other day on T.V. that sometimes the pimp waits inside the room and takes the guy's money. That's an outright lie, that's never happened here. That's 1959 shit. He had better come to '76 or forget it, the old fashioned (expletive deleted). I hate him. Pimps do not play that shit. They don't do that! They will if you hurt one of their girls, but that's their job. You're out to get your money and forget it in your hometown. That's all that's here in Spokane is hometown girls, because the vice won't let anyone else work here.
They'll crack down on them, they don't want it here that much. They have a few girls, which is good, because they know, even the vice know, you need a few girls here because something is going to happen if you don't have them. Guys are going to go crazy.

Q: What do you think about legalized prostitution?
A: In a way it's good it is illegal, because otherwise everyone and their mother would want to be a prostitute and it is not a profession for everyone. There is a lot of mental anguish in being a prostitute and it is not an easy job. Guys lay some heavy trips on you.

Q: Do you get harassed by people a lot?
A: You wouldn't believe the harassment we get from those little, punk, Riverside people. They come down and say, 'How much baby, you want to (rhymes with duck), give me a (oral copulation)?' So I tell them, 'Go try you mother, she is down the street for a nickel,' or 'try your sister, she's around the corner.' You've got to come back with something.

Q: Why do you think people do that?
A: They're immature. They don't realize that we keep down the number of rapes. It's not just getting laid. I have a lot of tricks that just want to talk. I have one guy who pays me $150.00. I go drink with him for an hour, then he talks. He talks about his wife and daughter—he actually cries, he gets it all out by talking to me and he doesn't have to worry. I don't have any personal interest in him. It is really interesting to hear what he has to say.
He doesn't want to go to a psychiatrist because he doesn't trust them. They have been known to pull out their files under a court subpoena. He can trust me because my word is no good as a prostitute in a court of law.

Q: Do you believe in God?
A: Yes I do.
Q: What is your relationship with God?
A: We're friends. I believe in him. I know there is somebody somewhere. There has got to be. Before I was a prostitute I was in the Salvation Army Church wearing a uniform and ringing a bell in the winter. I didn't smoke, cuss or drink. But, that was too straight for me. (Us, tool)

Q: When you date a married man, do you ever think about how his wife would react if she found out?
A: She ought to be glad that he's not leaving her for another gal. It might hurt her feelings. But, it might help her to know. Maybe there's something wrong with her. She ought to try and look at herself. A guy doesn't come to a prostitute for no reason. A woman has to look at a man's point of view, but a lot of women won't.
Q: What do you do in your spare time?
A: I like picnics, horseback riding, swimming, just about everything you like to do.
Q: Do you enjoy life?
A: Oh, I love it!

Q: Do you have a personal philosophy on life?
A: Shit, take it easy and relax. Take it one day at a time. You're only going to live so long. You don't know when you're going to die. Try to enjoy yourself and do what you want to do. Don't do what somebody else tells you to do, or you'll never be happy until you do find what you want for yourself in life. You have to realize that maybe being straight isn't for yourself or maybe being straight is. If my little sister ever came down on Main Street, I would kick her ass.

Q: Why?
A: Because it's not for her. Not just because I'm her big sister, it's just not for her. She's not the kind of person I am. She can't get mean. I can get mean if it presents itself. My sister couldn't. She would end up getting hurt and I would hate to see that. You know just because people down you for it, doesn't mean it's wrong. People are wrong every day in life, themselves, so how can they tell you what to do when their lives are a bunch of shit.
Their lives aren't happy. Look at parole officers and judges. They're so programmed to do what they have to do that they can't look at anything else. You can't be programmed when you're young. I'm full of life.
I hope to have a lot of years ahead of me. I want what I want, not what somebody else wants me to do and I'm not going to do it. I might die tomorrow and never experience what I want to do because a judge tells me I can't do it. It's my life and I'm not hurting anyone. So, why shouldn't I be able to.

"So she lays down beside me again
My sweet painted lady,
The one with no name,
Many have used her and many still do
There's a place in the world
For a woman like you.

Oh! Sweet painted lady
Seems it's always been the same,
Getting paid for being laid
Guess that's the name of the game."

It's Time To Meditate

by Pete Peters
Staff Writer

The EWSC Chapter of Anada Morga, an international socio-spiritual organization, will be offering a free basic meditation class this Fall in Cheney.

The purpose of the class is to introduce a life style that has meditation at its center. Meditation is a method of attaining higher states of consciousness and then integrating it into daily life for service, balance and happiness.

The class starts at 7:00 p.m. Oct. 14, and will meet for two hours each ensuing Thursday for four weeks.

Interested students should call 235-6638.

Bike Safety Begins

The Washington Safety Center at EWSC is sponsoring a workshop in "Teaching Bicycle Safety" at Shaw Junior High School in Spokane Oct. 12 and 14.

The workshop, which meets from 6 to 10 p.m. on the two days, may be taken for one credit by students and is related to teaching bicycle safety in elementary schools.

The textbook for the course will be provided free of charge. Enrollment will be conducted the first night of class.

For further information, contact Dr. Hall, Department of Education, 359-2207.

Another EWSC Play

George Bernard Shaw's "The Devil's Disciple," a comedy-melodrama, will be the next production presented by EWSC Drama Department, according to Dr. R. Boyd Devin, EWSC drama department chairman.

The play will be directed by Gene L. Engene, EWSC assistant professor of drama and will play for three weekends beginning Nov. 4.

All performances will be in EWSC College Theatre with curtain time at 7:30 p.m.

Rap Around

by Ed Evans

What type of President should EWSC have? What would you look for in the top three candidates as far as qualities and policies go?

MARIANNE MISHIMA, Applied Psychology, sophomore: "An understanding that students are humans also, and that each person has individual needs. His qualifications: be a human being who cares."

ROD WILLIAMS, Psychology, junior: "One who is adherent to the concerns of all students. I would like to see in the top three candidates experience, concern and a good background in dealing with different types of people."

JULIE NEVINS, undeclared, freshman: "Having the responsibilities of being president of an entire college would require a great deal of maturity. Along with this, a person faced with this job should display a sense of leadership, determination to get things done and a sincere character."

LORI MICHELLE JOHNSON, Sociology/Government, senior: "An I.Q. of at least 40, an attention span of at least three seconds and a year's supply of ExLax to keep him—or her—going."

BILL DANIELS, History, senior: "We need a president who can think in terms of the students and faculty as well as the administration. One who is in touch with the changing realities of the academic community as a whole."

"I've lived a life of changes. I have a degree in journalism... been a graphic artist... a salesman... worked for the railroad... been in public relations... and now I'm a potter. If there's something in life you want to do... I believe in giving it a try."

Harley's beer? Olympia.

"No matter what you try, you always need a home... something that's stable. And that's what I like about Oly... it's got a taste you can rely on... it's a beer to come home to."

We pointed out to Harley that Oly's been at home in Washington since 1896. And that it's always been brewed with only the choicest hops, grains and pure artesian water... one of the world's few perfect brewing waters. So the taste Harley relies on is the same great taste we've been brewing for over four generations. And we're not about to change.

A great beer doesn't change.
Olympia never will.

Fisk, Eagles Hammer Central 30-17

by Stan Wilkerson
Sports Editor

Eastern Washington State College exploded in the third quarter of play for 23 points Saturday afternoon enroute to a 30-17 thumping of Central Washington State College at Woodward Field.

It was the conference opener for both schools and the Eagles improved their record to 1-2 while Central remains without a win at 0-3.

Central, looking like a winning team in the beginning, took command of the first half and led 17-7. But the Eagles came storming back in the third quarter, blasting the Wildcats with three touchdowns and a field goal.

The Eagle offense came alive in the third behind Freshman quarterback Mark Laitala, who completed 4 of 12 passes and had one touchdown toss to Al Berta, and one interception, for a total of 73 yards.

Fisk Sharp

Junior running back Jim Fisk, carried 34 times for 119 yards and crossed the goal line twice for the Eagles.

"Defensive play was especially good," said Coach John Massengale. In the second half, the Eagle defense stopped the Wildcat offense cold.

During the wild-third quarter, the Eagle "D" nailed the Central punter on a fourth-down punt at the Central 25. Curtis Roe broke through the line and blocked the punt. The ball rolled back into the end zone where Matt Reese fell on the ball giving Eastern a six-pointer.

Confusion

Both teams threatened in the final quarter, which was marked by several moments of insane confusion, on the part of the officials.

This confusion surfaced when a foul was called by one official and the other officials had different interpretations of the rules.

If you didn't understand all of that, then you were right along with the rest of us.

New Team

From the onset of the game, the Eagles did not look like the team which gave up 42 points to Whitworth and 17 to Whitman.

"It's playing in front of the home crowd, you want to look good. And the team always likes to beat Central," said Jim Fisk.

Eastern's next foe will be Eastern Oregon College, who was thumped last week by EvCo favorite, Southern Oregon.

With Saturday's victory, the Eagles moved into a three-way tie for first place in the Evergreen Conference with Oregon College and Southern Oregon.

It's Women's Volleyball

It's a rough game, especially when women are competing. Recently, Eastern's team hosted Washington State, Idaho, Montana, Whitworth and Gonzaga.

Easterner photographer Mike Bade was able to catch the action, as long as one of the girls didn't fall on him. A contact sport?
